DO YOUR BIT FOR OUR EARTH BY BUYING INTERIOR PRODUCTS THAT ARE RECYCLED, ECO-FRIENDLY AND SUSTAINABLY DESIGNED AND MADE. BY LUISA VOLPATO

1. GREEN INTERIORS Colour House by Ande Bunbury Architects took out this year's Green Interior Award for setting a great example in sustainable residential interior design. greeninteriorawards.com.au
2. GREAT DANE Danish design has gone green with the Float pendant, made from hand-turned agglomerate cork. From $625. greatdanefurniture.com
3. OZONE-FRIENDLY GeoLight not only looks striking, it's also made from a special type of foam that contains no ozone-depleting compounds – it can also be recycled. $380. designbytem.com
4. MADE TO LAST The best form of recycling is the simple act of passing something on. This is the philosophy of Anomaly furniture: sustainably designed furniture that will become the next family heirloom, like this Zig credenza. $6,680. anomaly.com.au
5. NATURAL TEXTILES Cloth Fabric uses natural fibres and water-based, non-toxic inks to create contemporary screen-printed fabric. Cushion (50x50cm), $150. clothfabric.com
6. PLASTIC FANTASTIC Completely stylish in leather and/or fabric on the outside, you'd never know that the shell of the Pearl armchair includes recycled plastic from items such as old computers and phones. From $2,400. jandm.com.au
7. LOCALLY CRAFTED Choose a natural alternative to traditional spouts with the handmade Isla reclaimed timber bath spout. $495. woodmelbourne.com
8. UPCYCLED The Decafe range is the brainchild of young Spanish designer Raúl Lauri who has turned used coffee grinds into homewares, such as the Ayane candleholder. $49. textura.com.au
9. OLD TO NEW The Drop-Bar lamp is made from recycled Murray River Redgum, which was once part of old irrigation channels in Victoria. Many years spent under water soaking up mud and minerals has given the wood its rich mahogany colour. $399. studiobip.com.au
